

GLOBAL ORGANIZATION FOR EPA AND DHA OMEGA-3S

GOED Publishes EPA and DHA Ingredient Market Report

For Immediate Release: December 8, 2015

GOED, the Global Organization for EPA and DHA Omega-3s, has published a comprehensive market on the raw material segment of the global omega-3 market. The 500 page report includes breakdowns by every omega-3 oil source, end product application and geography. Numbers are provided for both dollar sales and volume in metric tons and analyses on overall market fluctuations and developing trends are also included. Additionally, the raw data in Excel format is also part of the package.

The Ingredient Market Report is available for $5000. Contact Mike Roberts (mike@goedomega3.com) to request an Executive Summary or to purchase the report.

About GOED:

GOED is an association of the world's finest processors, refiners, manufacturers, distributors, marketers, retailers and supporters of products containing EPA and DHA omega-3 fatty acids. The organization's objectives are to promote and protect the category, educate consumers about the health benefits of EPA/DHA, and work with government groups, the healthcare community and the industry, while setting high standards for its business sector.
